Introduction - From Our Family to Yours

The green grass and hills of Ireland; the aroma and taste of real fish and chips; the excitement of the Guinness Storehouse; the buzz of Dublin city; the majesty of the cliffs of Moher; and the famous warm Irish welcome. These are some of the things that we're all going to miss again this summer.

But that's no reason for our children to get left behind .. this summer at DLTC English Language School Ireland our students can still:

- Explore the sights, sounds and flavours of Ireland
- Explore the culture and the people of Ireland
- Make new friends from all over Europe
- Improve language skills now for when travel becomes possible later
- Make good use of free-time
- Enjoy a break from the ordinary (both parents and students!)

All of this through our "virtual summer Junior English course" for foreign teenagers who want to learn English in Ireland.

- Students will get to advance their English; 'meet' other teenagers from around Europe; and learn more about Ireland with our highly-qualified and experienced teachers;

We are very conscious of having proper security for our online courses. For that reason, we have all of the correct security facilities in place for our classes:

- students are placed in individual waiting rooms until the class is ready to start
- the teacher verifies the identity of each student and admits them one-by-one
- classrooms are username and password protected
- materials are sent by email by teacher before class starts so nothing is shared in the classroom
- nobody except for the teacher has access to the room control features by default

Important: We focus on 'speaking'

At DLTC English Language School, our belief is that you haven't really learned a language until you can speak it. Many students arrive at our school with some ability to answer English grammar questions in books but with little experience in using that knowledge and actually speaking the language. Therefore, while our classes also cover grammar, writing, listening and reading, our main focus is getting students to speak the language successfully. We do this by focusing on relevant, real-world topics that are of interest to the student and that are matched to their level. Our aim is that at the end of the course each student will depart with better fluency, an increased vocabulary and a greater confidence in their use of English.

About the DLTC English Language School

The DLTC is an English language school based in Dublin, Ireland, and has been providing English language courses to foreign students since 2002. We specialise in providing courses with cultural, sporting, sightseeing and activity programmes to foreign teenagers and adolescents – coming to our courses either as individuals or as groups.

The DLTC English Language School is motivated by a very practical sense of learning. We believe that you haven't really 'learned' a language until you can speak it successfully. For that reason the main focus of all our courses is to get students to 'speak' English. Many students arrive on our courses knowing how to answer grammar questions but are not able to talk about themselves or their ideas. For that reason we spend as much class time as possible getting students to talk and getting students to talk about topics that are relevant and interesting to them. We believe that if a topic is not interesting or relevant, students won't want to talk; and if they don't want to talk, then they'll never learn to speak the language.

During the summer, the DLTC English Language School offers our Summer Junior English & Activity programmes. This is a hugely popular programme and we have been operating it since 2003. On this programme, we welcome private individual students - who travel on their own or with friends - as well as larger groups of teenagers from language schools, secondary schools, and other youth organisations in any country.

During the spring and autumn, DLTC English Language School welcomes groups from secondary schools around Europe and the World who want to spend a study week in Ireland. We provide an English language course to suit the needs of the group; accommodation and meals with an Irish host family; transfer service to and from Dublin airport; and an activity programme specifically designed according to the wishes and budget of the group so that they can enjoy the famous sights and entertainment activities that Dublin and Ireland has to offer.
